Our service of healing and wholeness offers people the opportunity to be open to God's healing for them - whether it is for physical healing, the healing of past hurts and memories, or for the healing of broken relationships.

The service has a simple and traditional feel to it - it doesn't play on people's emotions or force them to do anything they don't want to. Some people ask for prayer, others don't - preferring to pray privately and quietly for themselves or for others.
